

PAYNE & FEARS

REMOTE MANAGEMENT AND PERFORMANCE TRAINING

Managing remote workers comes with its share of challenges. Providing appropriate performance reviews to employees not accustomed to functioning in such an environment adds an additional burden, especially for managers who themselves are new to a remote supervisory role.

Employment attorneys at Payne & Fears offer private virtual trainings for companies, their HR professionals, and managers looking for guidance on remote management and performance reviews.

THE TRAINING INCLUDES:

- Advice on managing with candor and forthrightness
- Tips on handling difficult conversations
- Guidelines for continuous feedback
- Minefields to watch out for (and topics to avoid)
- Specific remote work challenges
- Examples of success

Price: $1,250, including a pre-training consultation and questionnaire aimed at identifying issues unique to your organization, one-hour live Zoom-based private group interactive training, customized for your company, with sample performance review questions, and Q&A.
